

Low Donos years.

I am in this world Alone but for others Isolated but for touch And sight and sound.

In contact with others I learn and teach I grow and help grow I hurt and heal.

Others, older, teach and learn, Help grow and grow, Weep with my sorrows Leap with my joys.

This is a chronicle A record, dedicated To the remembrance Of growing.

We, members of the class of nineteen hundred seventy present Volume Number Three

What is this borderland of dream and logic, of fantasy and reason, where the roots and tentacles of mind and personality float and drift into the sudden shaping of a flash resulting in a scheme, a form, a design, an invention, a machine, an image, a song, a symphony, a drama, a poem?

You were split ends on the hair on the back of your head for twelve years.

Then we sat in our neat little circle (stare at feet, faces, anything laugh rub together sweaty-nervous hands.)

Now our eyes touch—
I am afraid, until you touch my mind with your hesitant words.

I líke you.

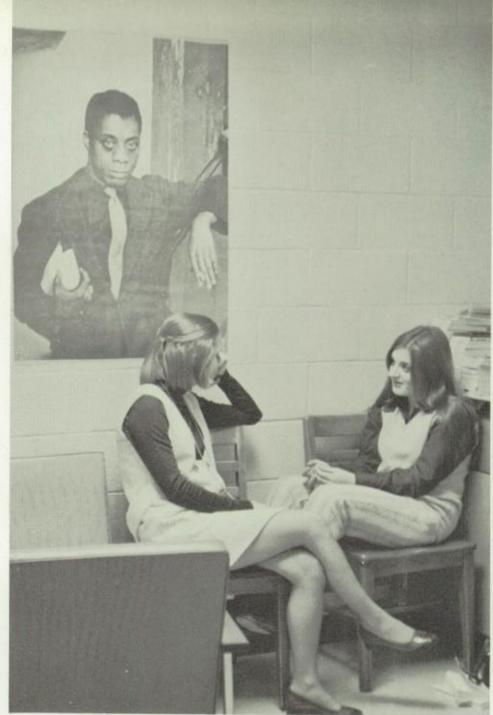

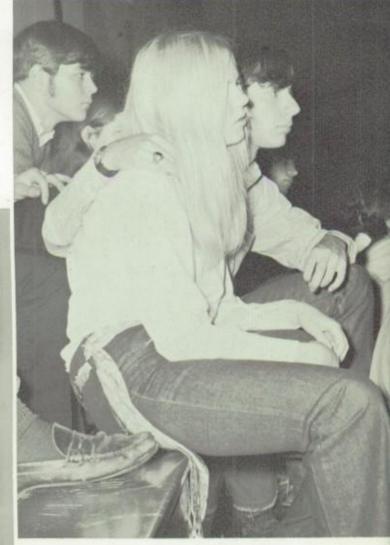

a quiet solitude in a noisy togetherness realizing that you are someone's friend hearing and listening
... I don't know what to say but maybe if you hold my hand you'll understand friendship is the calm love that waits out

the storm of passion,
sitting just on its edge,
ready to carry supplies to the wounded or laugh or cry or remain silent when it is over

friendship is

As students approach maturity they find that part of that maturity is standing up for what they believe in.

As this current tide of feeling reached Wayne Hills, the administration found itself conceding an ancient bone of contention in revising the dress code under student demand, while still others took part in joining their voices in dissent against war.

ķ,

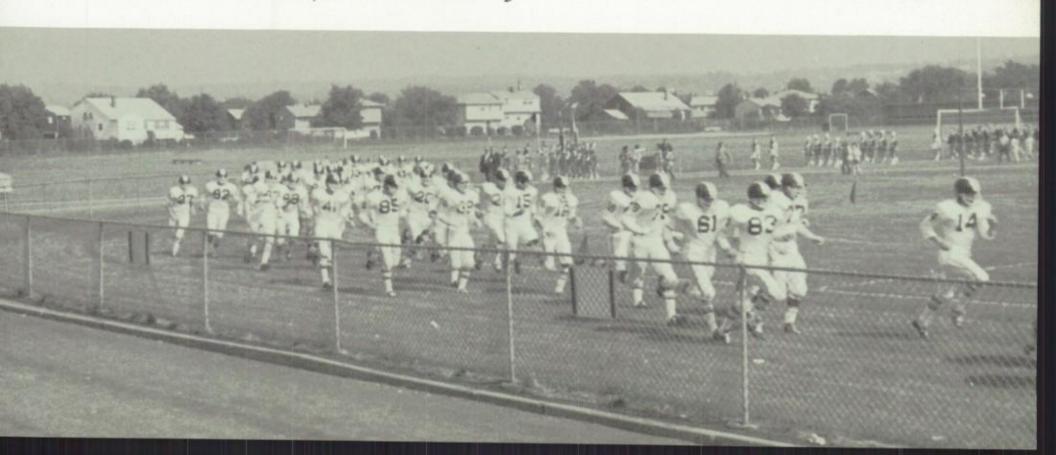

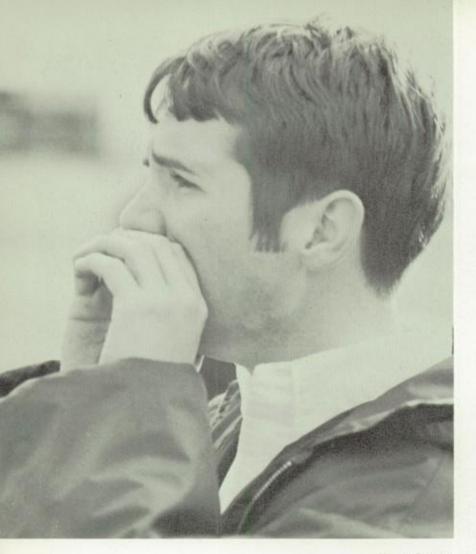

Through all of Wayne Hills' short history our football campaigns had to be carried out on foreign fields. Finally, after much dreaming and even more procrastinating by the town council, Wayne Hills students one day discovered a new Babylon arising out of the school grounds.

The infant structure, like a steel cocoon, was the promise of seeing the word "home" on a sports calendar and knowing it didn't mean "at Wayne Valley."

Sparked by the thought that their days as a wandering orphan team were over, this year's football team improved their record over last year as a four-year-old high school heard the new sound of home team cheering.

ED GOOCH, Vice President KATHIE DELANEY, Secretary

Graduation from high school is an important step in one's life; it often symbolizes the transition from youth to early maturity. On this occasion, we at Cyanamid join your families and friends in extending congratulations and good wishes to you.

Education plays an increasingly critical role in our lives as individuals and as citizens of our nation. Certainly we at Cyanamid are keenly aware of the importance of education.

We hope that you will find the pursuit of learning, whether through formal education or practical work and experience, to be profitable and enjoyable as a life-long endeavor.

From all of us at Cyanamid - congratulations and best wishes!

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Werner

We wish to thank the following people without whose help this yearbook would have never existed:

Mr. William Botbyl of Ickes Annuals for his saint-like patience with two proscrastinating editors.

Lorstan-Thomas Studios for their fine service.

All the members of the custodial staff for their countless favors and for tolerating our break-ins and late night hours, and to Mike Ricciardi for not holding a grudge.

Mrs. Laura Allegri, our advisor, who so graciously and dutifully accepted this hellish responsibility.

Gary Kaetzel for blessing us with his photographic skill and his undying loyalty.

The entire faculty for tolerating our endless interruptions and our seemingly petty annoyances; but wasn't it worth it, gang?

Mr. Joseph Graceffo for the use of the Graphic Arts dark room during many of our dire emergencies.

Mr. Arthur Smith for allowing us to have a Heritage Homeroom and for allowing our meetings during school.

All those who were involved with our car wash, especially to Harold Laauwe for donating his vacuum cleaner, to Stern's department store for the use of electrical outlets, and Rickel's department store for the use of their water outlets.

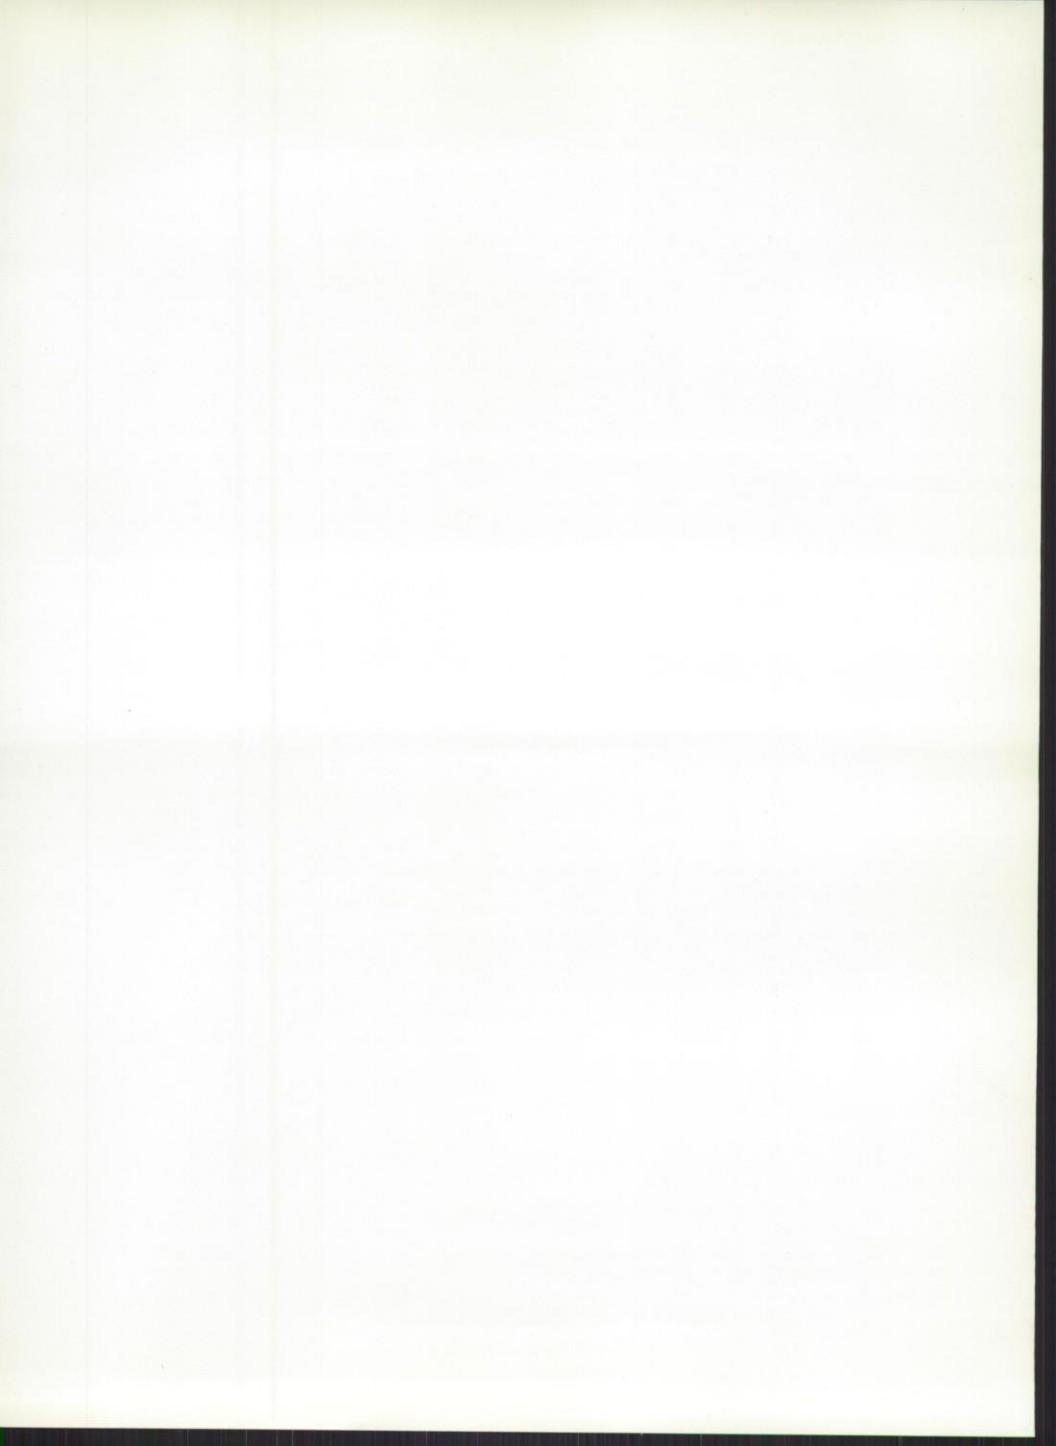

Those individuals who wanted two copies of Heritage so much that they felt they had to take our only two office copies.

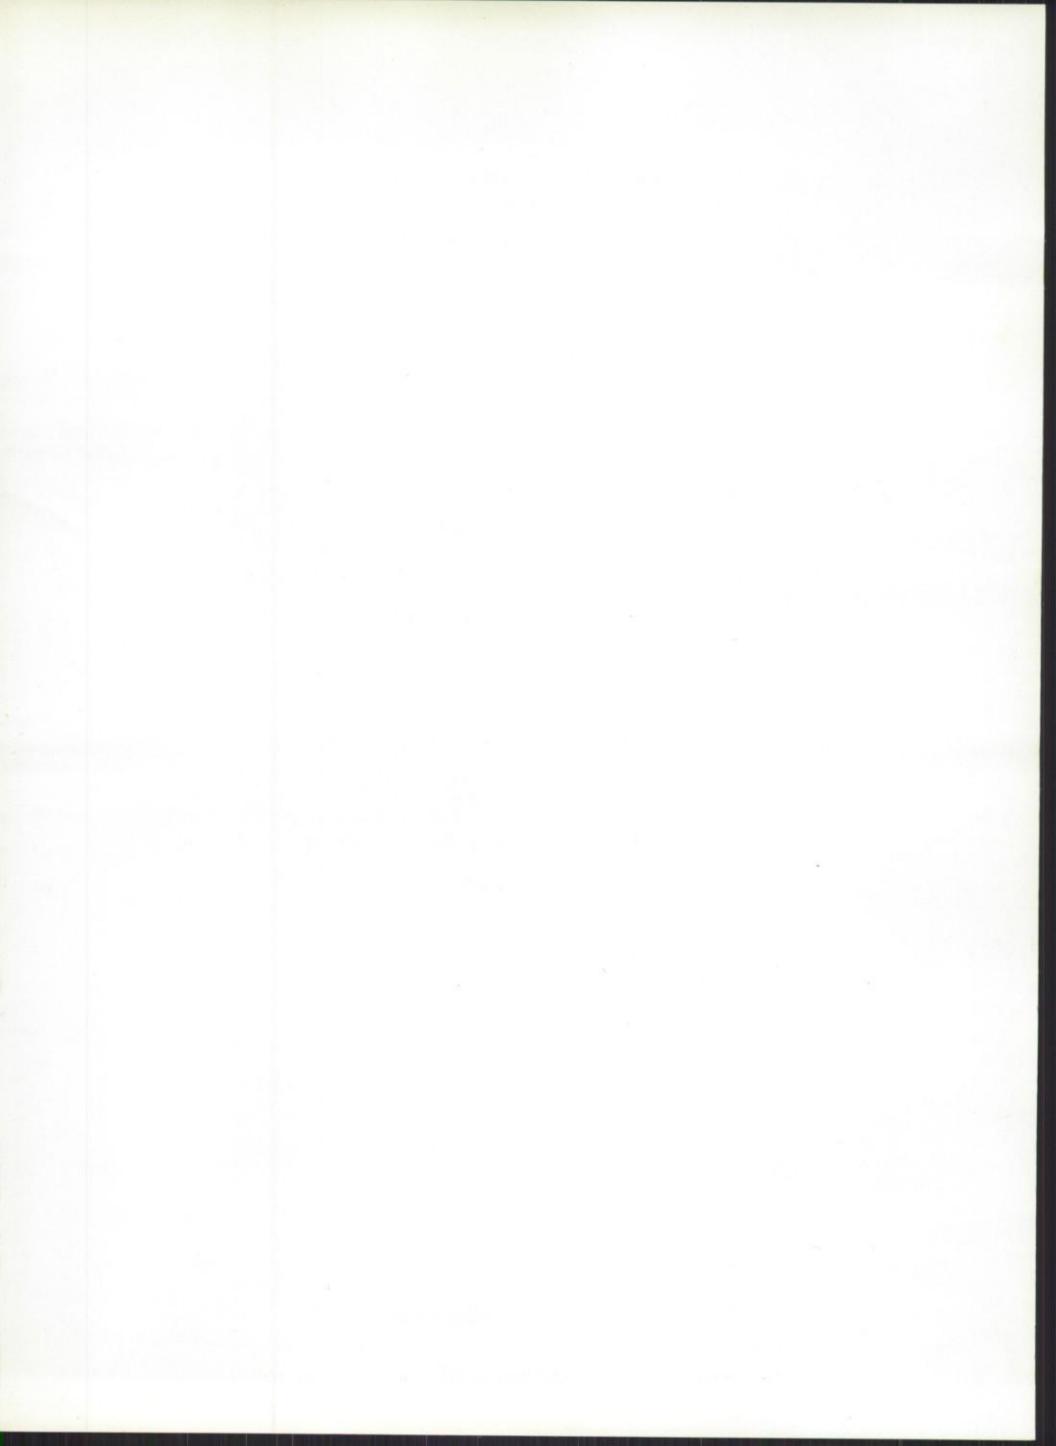

Mrs. Vera Harzold for providing room and board to the Heritage tribe, and to Mrs. Anita Maizel for providing transportation to all; and to both for good-naturedly enduring the loneliness without their daughters this year.

All those who supported us financially and spiritually,

We thank thee.

ENTER

—many together

But each alone in his confusion

—through the same door

Each turns on a course he has not yet charted

At first only sharp impressions

move like quicksilver

flashing through the mind

- —strange words chalked on blackboards
- —faces, new today, reveal the promise of friendship tomorrow
- —answers to questions never asked
- —a chance word that becomes an instrument to transform tomorrow

EXIT

—with a shared experience touched individually
